CLEMENTS HAD A NARROW ESCAPE. CLEMENTS HAD A NARROW ESCAPE.

Johannesburg, Monday, Dec. 17.—Details of the defeat of the British at Noedtgedacht indicate that General Chements's entire force had a marrow escape from capture. The Beers' plans were splendidly hid. If the main British column had tarried a little longer there would have been a complete success for the Boers, who exposed themselves undauntedly, yelling and waving the arms. Their rushes were only stemmed by artillery.

Quantrell's Chief Lieutenant Passes Away in an Asylum. REPUBLIC SPECIAL

St. Joseph, Mo., Dec. 18.—William Halley, a well-known ex-policeman and once chief lieutenant of Quantrell's band of guerrillas, died at 2 o'clock to-day at the State Hos-pital for the Insane, where he has been a patient since December 1. The cause of his death was a complication of diseases, following a general breakdown of the sys-tem. He was 10 years old and had lived in this city twenty-five years. He was born in Frankfort, Ky., in 18tl. The life of William Halley was an eventful one and was filled with many thrilling experiences. While on the police force he was generally pointed out as one of the bravest of the officers. As a shot with a rifle or pistol he ranked among the first This he showed by the part he took in the frustration of the attempted hold-up of the Burlington train near Roys Branch about six years ago. The police got wind of the affair and together with a number of ofneigh of the road took their places in the baggage car of the train, which was to be held up. When the hold-up came, Halley, single-handed, killed two of the robbers. His bravery was highly commanded by the officials of the road.

Halley was with Quantrell in the famous Lawrence raid, but seldom spoke of it un-less asked by a friend.

by the House.

The decision of the Cabinet to conclude the discussion mot with much opposition from the Rightista, who desired a postponement until Thursday. This was largely due to the late sitting. Hours were wasted in voting by ballot, and as time progressed each vote showed the number of Deputies in the chamber to be dwindling. Toward 2.36 a. m. it was found that there was no quorum, and it was necessary, in order to obtain a quorum, to open the sixth sitting. The ballot this time was valid whatever the number of voters.

Unfor these conditions the ball was adopted. Four hundred thirty-three Deputies were absent. The only incident which aroused the somnolent chamber was a violent attack by M. Joseph Lasses upon M. Waldsck-Rousseau, the Fremier, whom he accused of abundoning the Previus family, out of which, M. Lasies said, the Premier has made a fortune.

Several times M. Lasies was called to order, and finally he was censured.

The ministerfallst press is naturally elated this morrhog over the Government's victory and its tone may be gauged my the declaration of the Figaro, which says:

"Common sense had triumphed. The partisans of truth and social peace have gained a most brilliant victory."

On the other hand, in spite of the promise of tranquillity to follow the adoption of the measure, the Hadical press does not believe that appears ment is yet possible.
